A: Maybe I am not seeing the point of the question, but from what I can tell your problem seems to be that you are expecting the question to contain a good answer. This answer is simply a link to a question that contains the answer you are looking for, because it really is a duplicate of the one you asked about. Bangladesh Collegiate League The Bangladesh Collegiate League (BCL) is a collegiate cricket league organised in Bangladesh. BCL was started in 2013 by a group of cricket enthusiasts. The league aims to develop young cricketing talent by providing them with the platform to play with a view to producing better cricketers. BCL players are selected for the Bangladesh National Cricket League (BNCL) which is the most significant cricket league in Bangladesh. BCL mainly draws from all schools in Dhaka but also includes schools from other areas of Bangladesh. It currently has 13 schools which send teams in the league. All the matches are played at Zohur Ahmed Chowdhury Stadium in Dhaka. BCL is played under the auspices of the Bangladesh Cricket Board and the schools are funded by the BCL Administration Committee, a committee consisting of representatives from the schools. The number of participants per school ranges from 12 to 40. There are two groups of schools which are allocated to play in the league in different seasons. Each school team comprises of a mixture of senior and junior cricketers. Teams with many junior players are designated as 'feeder' teams and play against the stronger teams in the league in order to develop the junior cricketers. This process usually takes about a year to complete. Member schools There are 13 member schools and more are expected to join in.
