FIFA is an action game series featuring real footballers controlling teams of players in both 1 vs 1 and up to 32 vs 32 matches of 3D real-time football. There are currently ten FIFA games available on Xbox 360 and eight FIFA games available on PlayStation®3. Efficacy of the melatonin-analogue TAK-589 in depression and anxiety disorders. A high prevalence of both depressive and anxiety disorders is associated with a variety of medical, neurological, psychiatric, and life style disorders. The therapeutic effects of melatonin, a pineal hormone, are of proven clinical efficacy for the treatment of many disorders. The melatonergic MT1 and MT2 receptors are widely distributed in the central nervous system, especially in the limbic system, and their functions are still under investigation. However, the effects of specific agonists or antagonists on anxiety and depression could be promising. TA-589

(3-amino-6-[(2E)-2-hydroxy-1-phenylethyl]-1,2,4-triazine-8-one hydrochloride) is a potent MT2 receptor agonist, which was shown to have antidepressant properties in rats and mice. The aim of the present study is to evaluate the antidepressant activity of TA-589 in patients suffering from major depressive disorder and anxiety disorders (DSM-IV). The study population consisted of 28 adult Caucasian depressed patients, a subgroup of 42 patients suffering from anxiety disorders (DSM-IV) and 28 healthy controls who received a single oral dose of 300 mg of TA-589 or placebo. Conners' Adult Self-Report Questionnaire (ASRS), Montgomery and Asberg Depression Rating Scale (MADRS) and Hamilton Anxiety Rating Scale (HAMA) were used to evaluate depressive symptoms, anxiety symptoms and general symptoms of anxiety, respectively. TA-589 was effective in the treatment of depressed patients, regardless of the etiology of the disorder. In the anxiety disorders group, TA-589 showed a clear-cut antidepressant activity, as assessed by the MADRS and the HAMA. No increase in mood or anxiety symptoms was observed in placebo-treated controls. The antidepressant and anxiolytic effects of TA-589 might be promising for the treatment of anxiety disorders, as well as for the treatment of mild to moderate depression.
