In his first year as president of the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, David Bezoska is spreading an idea: that a 75-mile park along the Hudson River should be a new New York City for Westchester County. The $50 billion proposal, unveiled last week, is being readied for the first round of public comment. It would take a formal partnership with the state of New York, a name change and a separate lease for the land along the Hudson. And it would take at least five new highways to get there. Despite all of that, there will be a rally in Albany on Monday in support of the initiative and a demonstration at the Prospect Park reservoir in Westchester on the eve of Thanksgiving, according to Mr. Bezoska, chairman of the commission, who was selected by county officials earlier this year. "This plan is so powerful," Mr. Bezoska, a retired criminal justice supervisor, said in an interview. "It will be a game-changer for the region and we just need to stick together and move it forward." d0c515b9f4

Adiponectin, leptin and pre-eclampsia. pre-eclampsia is a pathological disorder characterised by hypertension and proteinuria in pregnant women. It is a major cause of maternal and perinatal morbidity and mortality. Evidence suggests an association between pre-eclampsia and altered adipose tissue metabolism. recent evidence also suggests that alterations in adipokines may also play a role in the pathogenesis of this disorder. Adiponectin is the most abundant adipokine in humans and its serum concentrations are inversely related to insulin resistance, type 2 diabetes mellitus and coronary heart disease. In contrast, leptin is abundant in adipocytes and its serum concentrations are directly related to obesity and insulin resistance. To determine the role of adipokines in pre-eclampsia, 30 pre-eclamptic women and 30 normotensive pregnant controls underwent repeat measurement of leptin and adiponectin serum concentrations at 18 weeks of gestation and delivery. Adiponectin concentrations were lower ($p = 0.02$) and leptin concentrations were higher ($p = 0.003$) in pre-eclamptic women. At delivery, levels of adiponectin were still significantly lower ($p = 0.02$) in the pre-eclamptic group, whereas leptin levels had risen in controls. Serum concentrations of leptin and adiponectin in normotensive pregnant controls were correlated significantly ($p < 0.05$).
